Provincial Parks Have Share of 'Spoilers'

Toronto — The majority of visitors to Ontario's provincial parks enjoy the scenic offset and respect the property and landscape as something to enjoy and not to destroy. However, there are a minority who delight in vandalism and spoil the pleasure of others. If you see any form of vandalism taking place in the provincial parks should be reported to the staff on duty.

Here is a list of the more common forms of vandalism found by parks' duty rangers:

1. LITTERBAGS scatter refuse, and indiscriminately toss away bottles and cans.

2. BREAKERS invade storehouses, they break windows, break fireplaces, grab fixtures, trees, monuments, signs, lawns and gardens.

3. REMOVERS devise clever methods to remove signs or dismantle tables, equipment and shelters.

4. CUTTERS cut flowers, trees, shrubs, water hoses, signs, and powerlines. They defoliate benches, tables, walls, fences, signs and monuments.

5. FIREBURNERS set grass and forest fires, sometimes they burn up equipment and facilities.

6. PLOUGERS build in plugging drains and toilets, put sand, gravel, sticks and gum in the water.

Other vandals devise ways to injure animals. Drive intricate tire designs into soil lawns, and dig holes in lawns.

Extracts from the files of the Lindsay Daily Post of twenty-five and fifty years ago

This Day 25 Years Ago

Coloured lights disgraced the coloured lights of the street, installed by the businessmen of the street, have not been turned on since Thursday. If chairman of Police, Deputy-Reeve I. B. Baker, has his way, they won't be turned on again until they are fixed, this is, until the burned out bulbs have been replaced.

A committee was formed at the last meeting of the council and was given power to act in the matter of fixing the string of coloured lights but their job has been delayed pending the return of W. E. Resor, Manager of the local Hydro Commission, whose advice on the matter of types of bulbs etc., is being sought.

"The lights are a disaster," Deputy-Reeve Baker told the Post on Monday. "They were turned off on Thursday morning and have not been turned on since. A committee was constituted to look into the matter and was given power to act but nothing has been done as yet. One string, has only six bulbs burning and this is a disgrace. Terrible condition: blot on civilization."

—Magistrate

Criticism of the manner in which some farmers treat youths entrusted to their care by various societies and criticism of the societies themselves for leaving youths "nothing to live for" was voiced by Magistrate O. A. Peck, Justice of the Peace, in Police Court here this morning.

"I think it is a terrible condition and a blot on our civilization that these youths should be so treated. I know of another case which came to my attention in Peterborough where a mere boy was compelled to work from daylight to dusk, with no time for play and recreation whatever. Under such circumstances I almost feel that I am overlooking the accused for stealing, rather than punishing him," said the Magistrate.

Canadian Teachers find overseas Assignments Worthwhile

Canadian teachers who served abroad under Government aid programs find their experience to be a worthwhile one. From 70 to 75 per cent of the teachers sent abroad by Canada request extension of their contracts. A number after serving in a posting abroad for several years, request another such posting. However, this year, school year P. A. Hamilton, of Hanley, K.C., is being transferred from Nigeria to Singapore. Mr. and Mrs. Colin H. Smith, of Victoria, B.C. from Sarawak to Beahm City, Nigeria; D. A. Girard, of Calgary, Alta. from Trinidad to St. George, Grenada; P. C. Proulx, of Victoria B.C. from Ghana to Kingston, Jamaica; A. C. Carlson, of Ottawa, Ont. from Nigeria to Montserrat; and H. Brochman, of Vancouver, B.C. from Ghana to Kingston, St. Vincent; D. Marantz, of Montreal, P.Q., and R. Richard of Trois Rivières, P.Q. from Congo to China.

This is how Colin and Gloria Smith, who have visited Victoria, B.C. on home leave, described their teaching assignment abroad.

"The trip of the difficulties, we can truly say that the three years we have spent in Sarawak have been the most satisfying and rewarding years of my life in the teaching profession. Nowhere could one find more wonderful, appreciative children to work with. We are certain that this post has more to learn from Asia than they have to learn from us."

"Professionally, we have had to try new methods, adjust our attitudes to the uncommunicated and assist teacher courses and syllabus making. It has meant good growth and development for us. We are extremely grateful for this experience."

Mr. Smith was principal of an experimental school in Sarawak for 300 pupils. Mrs. Smith taught English and music.

Herbert Bruch, M.L.A. who visited the South of what was known to the Dayaks as the "Happy School" wrote this about their achievement.

Colin and Gloria Smith have done far more than build a school and teach classes of youngsters, many of them just out of the jungle; they have helped them to realize that there is a new world and a better future for them. By long hours of work, through acts of encouragement, by giving a helping hand beyond the call of duty, they have given these people the will and the desire to do something for themselves."

Spotlight on Magna Carta

Seven-hundred-and-fifty years ago today the signing of the Magna Carta in England in 1215, is being celebrated in Suffolk. On a chilly November day when the town is solemly silent at the High Altar for the laying to rest King John to ratify Magna Carta.

This great historic event is being celebrated in the town of Suffolk, England, on the 11th of August, the very ground between the Norman and the Abbey at the High Altar, Edmunds where the meeting took place. It will be the first time that a story in stone and light has been told anywhere in the world.

— A London Letter.

Definition of a Gentleman

"I regard a gentleman as someone who is fundamentally gentle. He may have to be gentle, but he can't be tough. He must be honest, he must be polite and persuasive, and I think the idea of beauty comes into his actions and his life. A gentleman is a person whose life is quite often beautiful."

— Professor A. N. Jeffares.

Road Slaughter Includes Wildlife

Toronto — Slaughter on the highways includes wildlife as well as human victims. Each year, speeding vehicles kill or maim many animals on Ontario roads and a large number of these deaths and injuries could be avoided were motorists more thoughtful and cautious.

Frequent victims are moose which seek open breezy areas beside provincial highways to escape from bothersome insects. Standing close to road-sides at night, they are often blinded by approaching headlights and run across the highway into the path of an oncoming car.

A survey of road kills conducted by Lake Simcoe District conservation officers, found that 245 animals were killed in the month of June as noted by the following figures:

Babbits 126, Skunk 17, Raccoon 16, Porcupine 11, Ground Hogs 26, Deer 9, Squirrel 2, Beaver 1, Fox 2, Pheasant 5, — 245 Total. — Lakes and Forests.

Ten years of friendship

This marks the tenth anniversary of the friendship between the Royal Heavy Guard of Kingston, Ontario, Canada and the United States Marine Corps. The Washington visit is the second time that the Guard has visited the United States Corps to participate in joint ceremonies. The United States Marine Corps will be the guest of the Guard at Fort Henry on three occasions during the last ten years.

In August, 1954 headquarters units of the U.S. Marine Corps landed across the drawbridge at Old Fort Henry to the roll of drums. The Marines were 142 years old.

On November 16th, 1952 the American war fleet on Lake Ontario, with a detachment of U.S. Marines on board, made an assault upon the American naval base at Kingston. They failed, in part, because of the battery of guns on Point Henry, the site of Kingston's present Fort.

Until 1954 otherwise, the U.S. Marine Corps had never officially crossed the international boundary. This began one of the most unusual military friendships in the world.

As a token of their friendship, the Marine presented the Guard with U.S. Marine Corps drums, one of three units in the world where the U.S.M.C. has no honour. In return, the Guard turned over to the Marine Corps the only duplicate set of keys in existence to the doors and powder magazines of Fort Henry.

The deepest symbol of friendship of these two units was the acceptance, during the 1955 Washington visit, by the U.S. Commandant of the Marine Corps, General Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr. of the position of Honorary Commander of the Guard. In his honour the Guard always goes off parade to the strains of the Marine Corps Hymn.

Nuclear plants open to visitors

Ontario has two nuclear power stations and welcomes visitors to tour the plants.

One is a 20,000-kilowatt plant on the Ottawa River and the other, 10 times more powerful, is at Douglas Point on Lake Huron. Information centres at both stations exhibit plant models and films that explain atomic power and its application to the generation of electricity and guide are always available.

The smaller complex is Canada's first and is the San Benito station, located on Highway 17, near Ripley, northwest of Deep River. Here, visitors can see the Atomic Energy of Canada plant from an outdoor observation platform.

The Douglas Point station lies on the Lake Huron shore, just off Highway 21, about mid-way between Kincardine and Port Huron, and its white-domed reactor building has become a local landmark. Tourists here are greeted by uniformed guides and shown through a reception building housing interesting displays. There is a 10-foot stair and a 25-foot high observation deck for viewing and photo taking.

Upwards of 10,000 persons have toured the Douglas Point plant since it opened in 1961. Both centres are open to the public. The Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. and Ontario Hydro and are open to visitors daily all summer long.

HOW CAN I ???

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I remove mildew that has formed wide patches on leather-bound books, traveling bags, and other leather articles?

A. Rub clear petroleum jelly liberally over the mildewed areas, allow to remain for 24 hours, then thoroughly wash with a dry cloth. This treatment is also a good preservative for the leather.

Q. How can I make an easier job of polishing knives?

A. The next time you polish them, try dipping into boiling water, drying, then applying the polish at once while the metal is still warm.

Q. How can I cause corn meal mush to fry a nice brown?

A. By adding a tablespoon of sugar and two tablespoons of milk.

Cine Chair

Turn your cane-seated chairs upside down, and wash the underside of the seats with sponge and hot water so that they are well soaked. Add soap to the water if the cane is very dirty. Set the chairs so that they can dry in the air and provide the cane seats are not broken, they will tighten and be as firm and taut as when new.

Spot-Fire Painting

When painting the frames of screens or windows, hold a piece of metal flat from a discarded window blind over the adjacent screen or glass to protect it from the paint and thus make your job easier.

Flower Markers

If the names you have printed on the flower markers in your garden become dim or obliterated by weather, dot the markers into melted paraffin, and they will stay legible indefinitely.

In Memoriam

WILSON — In loving memory of a dear husband and father Robert Ed Wilson, who passed away August 19th, 1964. He is gone but not forgotten. And, as dawn another year. In our lonely hours of thinking, thoughts of him are always near.

Days of sadness will come o'er us.
Friends may think the wound is healed.
But the little known the sorrow that lies within the heart concealed.

Lovingly remembered by his wife and daughter Phemie and son Donald Edmond Wilson. (21510)

The golden gate stood open, two years ago today. With farewell unspoken. You calmly passed away. Peacefully sleeping.

Free from pain and grief. God bless you Dad. Till we meet again.

Ever remembered, sadly missed by wife, Lillian and family. (21508)

MAIN STREET COMMENTS . . .

More people are playing at first class golf courses. So golf these days in Lindsay and Haliburton, possibly more than any other sport. Green tickets sales have been larger than a year ago, the big influx of tourists being largely responsible. One local golfer had this to say, "The citizens of Lindsay probably do not know that there are a number of golf courses in this area. Lindsay is one of the best in Ontario, a course where the greens are first class and where the sprinkling of the ways have added to the popularity of the game here."

One of the oldest golf courses is at Sturgeon Point, a first course with a few hand holes where golfers have a wonderful time. The new links on the Scotch Line have enjoyed wonderful patronage this season and the snack bar has been busy taking care of visitors from the adjacent lakes.

Bobayougon and area people are also served by the course at the Beehive resort. Visitors in Pension Falls and thereabouts are having lots of enjoyment at the Pinery Manor course, operated by Frank Stukis. Two golf courses at Peterboro provide an opportunity for visiting golfers to display their proficiency.

In the Highlands of Haliburton there are two very good courses, one at Haliburton and the other at Minden. Both have been well patronized this season. At Lindsay and guest golfers travel to Peterboro where there

Daynes-Hansen Rites

Pink gladioli mixed with white pinks and green pansies decorated Queen Street United Church, Lindsay, for the marriage of Caroline Jennie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hansen, Lindsay, and Mrs. William Gordon, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Payne, Lindsay. The bride, accompanied by Barry Lloyd, Lindsay.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza over tulle, a bell-shaped floor length skirt with appliques of lace scattered over the length. It had a cummerbund type waistline lace bodice, round neckline and scattered with sequins. The gown had full length sleeves and a detachable train of lace to reach the heels. She wore a simple strand of pearls and matching earrings. Her hair, dressed, circle of pearls round her neck, and pearls and crystals held at shoulder length bouffant veil. She carried a nosegay of red roses and Stephanotis.

The maid of honor, Karen Vandervoort, Oshawa, wore a pink organza over tulle, knee length dress with rounded neckline, slightly flared skirt, cummerbund of lace under organza panel of lace and gathered organza starting at the waist line with two flat bows and set into back of skirt. The bridesmaids, Ann Daynes, Janetville, Lila Hickox, Trenton and Mary Hadley, Beaverton, wore blue dresses with same description as the bride's dress. They all carried pink and white carnations backed with white net nosegays and red dresses. The flower girl was Sari Lee Lamanita, Lindsay, and the ring bearer was Terry Robinson, Matilda.

The best man was Morley Davies Janetville and the ushers, Larry Paradisi, Lindsay, and Keith Hansen, Lindsay.

For the reception at the Bore Fire Bar-B-Q the bride's mother received varying a cellophane gown, a white and matching accessories of blue and white. The bride wore a pink Sweetheart roses with white Stephanotis. The bridesmaid's lace A. Walcott.

The complaints, of course, wonder what their position is in such circumstances and what rights they have to such a wedding.

Commodores fill the need for a senior band for Lindsay

In order to dispel some unfortunate rumors, which fortunately have not been true, the Commodores, who felt it would be to our advantage to stop our position. Firstly, there are to the best of our knowledge no musicians playing in the Commodores who are Mr. and Mrs. Ken Scott, Donald and Kimberley, Lindsay band. Secondly, the winning of an award by the Commodores on their first party outing during the past week was due entirely to the band's merit.

It is very difficult to promote an organization such as the Commodores when conditions are ideal, but when a group of musicians, who have no other purpose but to play, for their enjoyment and are not sponsored, and are not connected with any established organization, it becomes very difficult. We will welcome any criticism you may have. We cannot however, afford to have any undue derogatory criticism. We exist for the purpose and to the enjoyment of good band music. With your support, we hope to be a senior band in Lindsay.

OPERATED BOAT DANGEROUSLY, MAN FINED $150 PLUS $109 IN COSTS

HOLLYWOOD by UPI guest writer IRENE RYAN

They tell me I'm pulling a lot of laughs as Granny of 'The Beverly Hillsbillies.' I'm not complaining. In fact, it's exactly because I am on a winning streak at present that I think I can duck a charge of soap operas when I present my opinion that it's too funny to be a comedienne than a comedian.

It's an accepted thing for a man to be funny and to be laughed at. But, though we don't realize it, we don't accept it from a woman. Conclusion: a woman has to work harder to succeed at comedy. That's not talking about not just how business but basic everyday human nature. A man can tell a joke well, we like it. If he can tell it with some vivid gyrations, we like it even better. We feel no reluctance to roar with laughter, and we admire his ability to make us do it.

On the other hand, we have an unconsciously awkward attitude toward the woman who tries to make us split our sides. We chuckle if she's witty in a casual, genteel way. That's considered part of the feminine charm. But if she makes an obvious attempt to be an out-and-out clown, we find it hard to go along with her because of a vague feeling that it's unladylike, that women are not supposed to carry on that way.

That, I suspect, is because we try to bring up our own daughters from childhood to be beautiful, intelligent and charming — not comical. Most girls come to understand that being a clown isn't considered especially desirable, particularly from the romantic standpoint.

It's true that when the average guy conjures up the vision of his all American dream girl, she's not a cut-up but a good looking, double-taking and prattling thing.

As a matter of fact, our most famous female comies have always been women who are considered understandingly beautiful or who play down their beauty to a great extent serving that beauty and comeliness very well. It's Minnie Mouse who gets the laughs, not Venus De Milo.

Since girls who strive for beauty don't make great comedienesses and since most girls do strive for beauty, great comedienesses are few and far between.

For the same reason, even would-be great comedienesses are rare. Show me a bunch of female "Yountpotters" in the entertainment business, and I'll show you a bunch of young, beautiful actresses, singers and dancers — not clowns. For men, there is no subtle stigma in trying for the big yuck, and not subtle stigma about getting it.

TOO CLOSE

Try this self-check to see if you follow other cars too closely in traffic, the Ontario Safety League suggests. Think back and count the times someone cut in ahead of you from another lane, last time you drove through the city, or on a crowded expressway. If you drive sensibly, several other cars will move in ahead of you every hour. If you ever squeaks in ahead, it probably means that you consistently drive dangerously close to the car you are following.

School buses remain the same

The Lindsay area High School Board was at their meeting Wednesday that the buses in service for rural students in September will be the same as last year. Alga, DeLuca, DeLuca Brothers and H. G. Williams, B. Robertson of the Transportation Committee said they would be very little change in the route.

High School Board approve Crest visit

The Lindsay area High School Board approved paying $75 to have the Crest Theatre Foundation Company stop at LCVI during its tour of Ontario Secondary Schools. A letter read at the Board meeting Wednesday, from W. R. Stewart, Deputy Minister of Education, said the company was planning a tour of Ontario High Schools, in which it will perform scenes and excerpts from plays on the curriculum as well as some of general interest. The company consists of production staff and five actors.

Mr. Bresse told the board that the students usually have a trip to the Crest Theatre but if the players were to come here, more students would be able to see the plays.

The production will be open to students of grades 11, 12, and 13 said Mr. Bresse.

McCarthy withdraws from vice presidential race

Senator Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota has withdrawn from the Democratic Vice Presidential race.

This seems to mean that Senator Hubert Humphrey, also of Minnesota, will be President Johnson's choice. Humphrey already was the front-runner - but McCarthy was considered a possibility. Meanwhile, Democrats are expected to nominate President Johnson tonight by acclamation.

The move could sidestep further clashes over the status of two Southern delegations. The President is scheduled to leave the White House tomorrow and fly to Atlantic City to deliver a formal acceptance speech - but observers say he may make a brief television address thanking the delegates tonight.

Last night the party adopted a 22-busword platform with a civil rights plank designed to keep the southern wing of the party within the Democratic fold. —UPI

"Conflict of interest" — suspended

A high ranking Ontario Government official is suspended today because of what the Attorney General Department terms a "conflict of interests" in connection with mining stock now being investigated.

Attorney General Arthur Wishart yesterday suspended J. H. Campbell, the director of the Securities Branch of the Attorney General's Department because of his apparent involvement with the industrial stock bubble.

Wishart also indicated that further action may be pending. The government is, at the same time, probing the rapid rise of the windfall stock from 50 cents to five-dollars-70 cents.

The price rise stemmed from reports, later proved false, of rich ore deposits on the Windfall property. The stock collapsed when the report was proven false. —UPI

United appeal objective up to $18,500

The United Appeal Community Chest campaign will have an objective of $18,500 this year, 700 more than in 1963 campaign chairman R. A. Patterson told a meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Lindsay on Tuesday.

Mr. Patterson said donations were poured in from the last year's campaign. The appeal this year is to be conducted within a one-week period from October 5 to 10th as a "bible" campaign, said, to prevent it dragging out as it has done in recent years. Mr. Patterson said that as the Girl Guides were now holding an annual cookie sale in one year, they will no longer be able to raise the $200 spent last year, he reported added destroyed.

Hubert Watson

Canington (PNS) — A private funeral service for Mr. Hubert Watson of Canby was held at Cedar Vale Cemetery, Canington on Friday, August 7th, 1964 conducted by Rev. Ronald R. Davidson of All Saints Anglican Church.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. H. Williams of Lindsay, Olive Mrs. Albert Tomlinson of Canington. Interment was made in Cedar Vale Cemetery with Messrs R. W. Weeks, Phil Francis, Alga Betty, Bert Lippinwell, J. De Long and Ken Dawson acting as pallbearers.

Gale warnings hoisted in S.E. Florida

Miami (UPI)—Gale warnings were hoisted over southeast Florida this morning as Hurricane Cleo began entering the Florida Straits north of the Keys. The storm was believed to have gained strength on the open sea. Destroyers and submarines from the Key West Navy base were sent to sea to ride out the blow. Planes were moved inland. Cleo already had claimed 22 lives and a toll is expected to mount as the storm pours out of Cuba and eligible for the $200 spent last year, he reported added destroyed.

Leather or Heather, or maybe pine, smells to make a man's suit divine

LONDON (UPI)—Aromatic suits with a scent of leather, heather or pine are being introduced by a London firm in theirs in their 1965 range. "Tailor and cutter" bible of British Men's Wear, reporting the new line said:

"It will not be a strong smell. Only those close to the wearer will be able to smell it. 'Inevitably one conjures up a vision of those curious advertisements with the unconcerned offender sitting ignominiously between his dumbly flanking critics, their nostrils a quiver and their eyeballs stuck in the corner pockets."

Ottawa (UPI) — External Affairs Minister Paul Martin rose in the Commons chamber, as only he can, and said in measured, studied tones, "The Commonwealth is free from the Virgin Islands."

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson immediately jumped to his feet and said quickly: "On a question of privilege he should like to divorce him self from the Martin 'observance'."

When the noise subsided, Martin rose again, unperturbed and said in measured studied tones:

"I was referring, of course to the Virgin Islands."

A. D. Alkenbrack the Conservative member for the Ontario riding of Prince Edward Lennox, says the army is renovating a former naval stores building at Kingston at a cost of 250-thousand dollars — and importing for the job Indiana limestone from the United States.

Postmaster General John R. Nicholson, told an annual meeting of envelope makers that "you are the people who make and sell them — and we deliver them for you to the people who tear them up."

And there's this question in the Commons from Georges Valade, the conservative member for St. Mary. He asked Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill if he could confirm or deny a rumor to the effect that he and the Secretary of State for External Affairs (Martin) intend to oust the Prime Minister from his position and replace him with the honorable member for Essex East (Martin) in a short while?

Pick's reply: "I wonder how many honorable members can be, Sir."

New domestic member Stanley Knowles tried without luck to pin labor minister Alvin Martin down on a date for introduction to the Commons of his labor code. In April, said Knowles, MacEachern it would be in the Commons "as quickly as possible." In July "We were going to get it done in two weeks ago." "We were going to get it as soon as possible."

MacEachern rose, beaming and said he couldn't give a definite indication "when I could go before the Commons — 'But it will be soon.'"

Many different Christmas trees

Some thirty-one different species of Christmas trees are listed in the current U.S.D.A. Christmas tree production survey.

Heading the list of the more popular species of course is the Scotch pine, followed by Douglas fir, Balsam fir, Norway pine, and eastern red cedar. Among the less known varieties are shasta fir, koror fir, pinyon pine, Arizona cypress and the Ponderosa pine.

"Too many, too busy" — minister

"You Are the Man" was the topic for a timely and interesting sermon delivered to the congregation of the Union Church at Pleasant Point Sunday. The minister was Rev. Gilmore Smith of Peterboro. The minister portrayed the story of David and his sinful deeds and how Nathan accused him of unlawful acts and declared to David, "You are the man and you must die." Nathan was praised for his action as a community man interested in the welfare of others.

This lesson the preacher sought to adapt to present day life by stating that too many men fail to realize their responsibility in local communities and in the higher levels of government.

"Many men can find time for curing two or three nights a week, time for golf and time to play bridge," said Dr. Smith, "but they are too busy to devote time to the church or even to community organizations such as the Red Cross, the Cancer Society and other worthy groups."

Many, many citizens failed to recognize the injunction of Nathan in the case of David, failed to recognize that "You are the man," he said.

New York (UPI) Mrs. Frances L. Beardsley's grocery list sounds as if she's stocking a she orders 100 pounds of flour and sugar at one time, but a variety of the car, hamburger in the 70 pound lot.

Well, it takes a lot of food in the Beardsley family of Carmel, Calif. for there are 20 children ranging in ages from one to three and seven to 16.

Helen Beardsley and her husband, a naval officer stationed at the U.S. naval post-graduate school in Monterey, Calif., have what may be the largest single family in the U.S.A.

Mrs. Beardsley had eight children from her first marriage to a navy flier killed in a plane crash in 1901. In 1961, she married the widower of a warrent officer who had 10 children. Together they had 10 more children, but at home except the eldest son is in the Marine Corps.

At the age of 34, the eldest of her brood during a trip to New York to be honored by the camp fire girls.

The newspaper cited her for "administering and ministering to the emotion spiritual and practical needs of probably the largest single family in America."

The secret of preparing meals for her family is just learning to think big, says a bigger uterus, bigger quantities.

"Any one of the teen-agers can cook the whole meal for us," she said. And the kitchen of their eight-bedroom home is large enough for 112 members to eat together in instead of running shifts.

She figures the grocery bill runs between $400 and $425 a month and she saves by quantity buying, taking advantage of the 10 to 20 more all which, we'd skip the potato chips," she explained.

She purchases 35 pounds of peanut butter at a time, 50 loaves of bread a week from the freezer, and non-dairy milk ("which we use exclusively") in 65 pound tins.

Part of her buys is at S&W supermarkets, part from other sources which will sell in quantity she said.

"I'll wait until a supermarket is having a sale on, say, hamburger at 29 cents a pound, and then I'll go into the freezer until we need it."

With 15 children in school, the problem of fixing lunch has been solved by the youngsters taking turns at making sandwiches the night before and storing them in the refrigerator.

"Feeding the family also takes a chunk out of her husband's approximately $10,000 a year salary, she said. "But at least each of the girls gets off enough she takes a professionally sewing course so she can make her own.

Of course, there are hand-me-downs," said Mrs. Beardsley. "And I'm not bashful when a neighbor says, 'Can you give me this?'" But the children are in parochial school, which means they wear uniforms that save on the clothing bill.

"A major problem is shoes. We buy at least 50 a year."

"What we need, I tell you, is a shoe factory."

have the concentration areas there similar to the Pontypool area and in the Simcoe and Norfolk counties in Ontario. He said, "the growers select the land site and set their plantations hoping to realize a quick profit. In the Thica area most of the growers had bought up growing trees in the hills area and eventually turned to growing trees in the hope of some recovery from their investment. The soil in this area is heavy and not of the quality preferred by the growers."

Douglas is a favorite species in the U.S. although the Scotch pine grown in this area is now a leading favorite on the U.S. market moving from thence plantations in 1963 with 21% according to U.S. statistics.

Mr. Johnston pointed out that there are premium prices to be realized in the nurturing and promoting of the native balsam in this area. The balsam is not adaptable for replanting, he stated, but must be encouraged and developed in their natural habitat in desert pastures and burnt over and natural regeneration should supply the demand. If the tree is carefully cultivated.

The advantage presently held by Scotch pine is mainly due to the needles not dropping, and the high density and adaptability to trimming.

The Lindsay District supervisor addressed some five hundred delegates at the National Convention on Friday.

In delivering a formal paper on Christmas tree trimming, Mr. Johnston illustrated his point by giving a demonstration of trimming procedures and also showed slides of plantations in the Lindsay area. He was allotted an hour and a half for his presentation and this gives

In 1948, Sally Axley was flown to the U.S. to face charges of espionage and treason for wartime radio broadcasts for Germany.

FUN AFLOAT

ON WATERWAYS

As various water sports become more popular each year, more and more pressure is put on existing facilities. This means that all users operate with each other. If you are not real familiar with the other fellow's point of view, try to learn more about it. This short summary supplied by the Esquimaux Boating News Service should help you get started.

Fishing — All that most fishermen ask is to be left alone. They do not like to be buzzed by fast boats or rocked by the wake of the boat that comes too close. Keep in mind that when a fisherman is trolling he may have a long line trailing behind his boat. A thoughtless joy rider who comes in too close can easily cut the line with his propeller.

Water skiing — Water skiers who are considerate, and most of them are, will try to keep their distance from other boatmen. However, waterskiers do require a considerable amount of landing space. Other boatmen can show their consideration by staying away from the starting and landing areas used by the skiers. Since the general direction the skier will go is controlled to a large extent by the boat driver, it is important that the driver use as much caution as possible.

Skin diving — The skin diver like the fisherman asks only to be left alone. Most skin divers use a floating flag to let other boatmen know they are in the area. If you see a skin diver's flag — it is red with a white diagonal stripe, stay at least 100 yards away.

Swimmers — Common sense dictates that boaters keep a good distance away from swimming areas. Swimmers on the other hand should stay within approved areas especially when boats are operating on the waterway. It is often difficult for the boat driver to spot a swimmer in the water.

Conding — The cruising enthusiast asks very little from other boatmen. Naturally, he does not like to be buzzed by other boats especially when his boat is at anchor. Many cruising families enjoy cooking and eating aboard their boats. A wave thrown by another boat can really shake things up. Remember, you are responsible for any damage caused by the wake of your boat.

As long as they use it properly, everyone has an equal right to the waterways. And swimmers — Common sense dictates that boaters keep a good distance away from swimming areas. Swimmers on the other hand should stay within approved areas especially when boats are operating on the waterway. It is often difficult for the boat driver to spot a swimmer in the water.

Menace

The pollen-bearing plants are still a menace to the hay-fever sufferers who should make every endeavour to avoid them, especially the ragweed plant, which is to be found in roadways, waste lots and even in gardens. Learning to recognize ragweed will help the sufferer on his own property. Provincial tourist departments can usually advise on the safest places for vacations, where there is a low pollen count.

The other former chauffeur Sidney Baker, said he would look for work as a London taxi driver. He said they weren't fired; they quit.

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Steiner, MD, F.A.C.P.

SMOKING MAKES SENSE

ONLY IN PERSPECTIVE

What's the best way to give up smoking?

I wish I knew the answer. The first thing to remember is that what will work for one may not for another. Any habit is at the mercy of strong motivation.

If you feel deeply enough, for any certain reason, that you want to stop smoking, you will. If you don't, you won't. You'll scrape up every excuse from the bathroom to the barrel to convince yourself why it's silly to stop. "Life is short, you may as well enjoy it," etc. (Often a darn good excuse.)

But if securely motivated, you can break the habit just as easily as snapping your fingers. For example, if your doctor takes the time to paint a picture of deadly danger for you, and you continue to smoke while in the later stages of emphysema (in which the air spaces become distended and rise, like balloons), you are far removed from the fellow who goes over the Niagara Falls in a barrel.

You will bring up all kinds of excuses: that you're smoked for so many years it would be too great a shock to stop suddenly or gradually; that it calms your nerves; that you've cut down a lot lately, anyhow. But you're only fooling your self.

I am not saying that every one should give up cigarettes. Nor am I saying that they should switch to cigars. I'm not so sure of the cause of all the trouble to be able to tell you that you can smoke pipe or cigars with abandon. Why cigarettes have been made the villain I can't understand. Cigars of the mouth, tongue, lips and throat are still with us, in spite of all the concentration on cancer of the lungs as the enemy. And we know that cigars and pipes may be tied up in some way with mouth and throat cancer.

My impression is that most doctors have been implying that if you give up cigars, you can go on a coughing spree. Well, as I've said here spaces become distended and rise, like balloons, you are far removed from the fellow who goes over the Niagara Falls in a barrel.

I was saying that if you have to sufficient motivation you can stop. If I can convince you that your bronchitis will never improve if you continue to smoke, you will stop without trouble—if you have any sense.

The same is true if you have an ulcer, or coronary disease, Burger's disease, or sinusitis, or asthma, or emphysema or an allergy to tobacco. If I tell you those who wear if you still smoke, you will quit. And the quitting will be easy because you are motivated to get well.

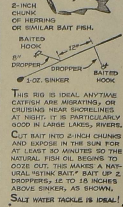

However, if you are like the many thousands who are the heroes and heroines of my book "How To Stop Killing Yourself" (in which apparently normal people go on doing the things which surely will kill them early), you aren't sufficiently motivated to stop. You'll keep on.

How about people in their 70's and over, apparently healthy? Shall they stop smoking? Well, as I've said here spaces become distended and rise, like balloons, you are far removed from the fellow who goes over the Niagara Falls in a barrel.

I was saying that if you have to

SYNDROME ADVERTISING WHERE HEALTH IS CONCERNED

We are at the mercy of advertising, and more profoundly than we realize, the studied, psychological attacks wear down our resistance.

In newspaper and on the air, tobacco is tobacco, but individual ads will have you believe that each cigarette has in it ingredients and processes unknown to any other brand. More than any other, it is smoother, cooler, contains less, less nicotine. It promises with pleasure and freedom from danger at the same time.

Likewise, one toothpaste with special formula X-62, or something equally formidable (and mysterious) will save teeth from premature destruction. One lipstick is the best. One shaving cream, and one alone contains the secret beard-softer. One automobile has features that the others can't even approximate.

And so it goes. I suppose modern competitive life being what it is, we must learn to live with these advertising blandishments.

By Peter J. Steinerhorn, MD, F.A.C.P.

DRAW THE LINE

Nevertheless, I draw the line where health is concerned. I do not believe that one cereal is the best for growing children. That one laxative is the answer to good spirit and our ability to meet the problems of the day. That one vitamin formula has it over all the rest. That one tranquilizer, one sleeping pill, one brand of this food or that is the answer to longevity.

Neither do I believe that one doctor is the best. In the old days when you needed an aspirin you just took it. Now we take it with a stop watch in hand—wondering how long it will require to dissolve so it won't irritate the stomach wall.

Dear Dr. Steinerhorn: My son who is 36 has been confined to bed with mononucleosis for over a month. He hasn't had any fever since the first week. My doctor has ordered the bedrest and vitamins.

My son maintains he is fine, just very tired. He claims the bed is making him weaker.

He has little desire for food. After eating a small amount he belches and feels uncomfortable. Should it take so long? Mrs. D.

Comment: Mononucleosis is due to an infection by a virus. As you know, it begins usually with fever, sore throat, enlarged neck glands and aches and pains and exhaustion. There's no specific cure.

Much of the tiredness which persists in many patients for weeks or months is due to hepaticity the patient can have it without being jaundiced.

There are special laboratory tests which will show its presence.

The only question I raise here is the need for continued bed rest. Of course, his own doctor will have to make the decision about freeing him from his bed shackles. But I think it will interest you to know that many recent medical reports have stressed the fact that we may be overprescribing rest in these cases.

Even though the liver is still involved, it seems that many doctors allow their patients up earlier, often when the fever has disappeared. They don't keep the patient in bed until all the lab reports are negative for Perhaps some of your son's fatigue and loss of appetite is due to prolonged bedrest and not entirely to his mononucleosis. Talk it over with your doctor.

NEW HOME DESIGN—Bungalows

with slightly more than 72 per cent of the total in 1963 were still the most popular type of houses with Canadians.

The wide roof overhang of this design by architect B.L. Peterson, of Victoria, makes it possible to sit out under shelter both to the front entrance and the outside basement staircase. The plan has a standard L-shaped living room, while the kitchen has a family room adjoining it. Both this room and the dining room lead to a terrace. The plan is so arranged that children can go from the outside terrace or front door to the family room or down to a playroom in the basement without crossing any principal rooms. The front door should face north.

The floor area is 1,300 square feet and the exterior dimensions, including the porch, are 46 feet one inch by 49 feet six inches. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 2325, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

TRIM BOAT FOR BEST PERFORMANCE

Running an outboard boat is no low high out of the water may look easy, but it doesn't do much in gaining the respect of other boaters. Besides being unsafe, it is usually an indication that the operator knows little about proper boat handling. In this situation, the driver's forward vision is obstructed almost completely by the bottom of the boat. Each time the boat hits a wave, it will slap the water and a very rough ride will be the result. Also that speed and fuel efficiency are cut down miserably.

There are two ways to remedy the problem, according to the engineers at Evinrude Motors. One involves changing the angle setting of the motor. Most outboards are designed so that they can be tilted either forward or away from the boat transom. To bring the motor closer to the boat, the motor should be set in closer toward the transom. If the boat sags, move the motor away from the transom.

A boat may also be trimmed by distributing the load more evenly. In a small two-man fishing boat, for example, the passenger should sit well forward of the driver. If only one person, the driver, is aboard, the boat can be trimmed by placing the fuel tank, a gas bag or some heavy piece of gear toward the bow. But don't overdo it. Having too much weight toward the bow will make steering difficult.

Especially in a small boat, caution passengers to keep to the center of the seat. Changing seats should be allowed only after the boat has been stopped. Under no circumstances should passengers be allowed to sit on the gunwale or deck when the boat is under way.

By keeping your boat balanced and riding level, you will get better performance, a faster and smoother ride and the approval of other boaters.

New York (UPI) — In Belgium, the secretary calls her boss "mister". In the United States, like no one, she calls him "Mac."

This informal relationship between boss and secretary is the most striking difference in secretaries in the two countries that Gisèle Vandepuitten found on a three-week visit to the United States.

"In Europe we would never address the boss by his first name," said Miss Vandepuitten. "Nor would we address us as anything other than Miss whatever the last name is. You're more familiar."

Miss Vandepuitten came to the United States for her first visit as part of her reward for being named "the best secretary of Belgium."

The 32-year-old blonde Miss Vandepuitten, out-memoed and out-thought 218 entries to get the title in a contest sponsored by the Brussels office of Manpower, Inc., an international help and business firm.

In Miss Vandepuitten's notebook, a good secretary is a quick mind, "if a boss has to explain things three times, he gets nervous," she said. An alert mind topped the list also in a manpower survey of bosses on the qualifications sought in an efficient secretary. Then, the men wanted a good sense of organization and initiative, a good memory, an ideal filing system, some technical skills in addition to shorthand and typing such as knowledge of foreign languages. Miss Vandepuitten knows Flemish, French, English and German, and a secretary who would be herself and not be overvalued by her surroundings.

Grooming and personal appearance were way down on the boss list, she said.

Miss Vandepuitten visited offices and talked with other secretaries in New York, Boston, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Chicago and Milwaukee. She found a lot of sameness in secretarial jobs on each side of the Atlantic. Most Belgian secretaries work a 40-hour week, although she as executive secretary for Rene Fox, Manager of External Affairs in Euratom, Market, doesn't always keep within that limit.

Secretaries in Belgium have their coffee breaks too. And their salaries average pretty much the same when you consider what a U.S. dollar compared with a Belgian Franc will buy, she said.

Salaries range from 8,000 to 13,000 Francs or $160 to $260 per month, she said. If that sounds small, remember, she said, the U.S. way of life is just more expensive.

Belgian secretaries usually get three weeks vacation when the said "I believe more than your secretaries average."

Miss Vandepuitten lives with her mother and brother at Neerbolle, outside Brussels. She also has a residence near her job in Brussels.

She has been a secretary for 10 years and was with an air-lift company before joining Euratom. A tall five feet, 11 inches, she looks Scandinavian. Some reporter in Washington described her as willowy.

"I looked 'willowy' up in my translation," she said, "and it didn't help. I asked people at the Belgian embassy what it meant. The Belgians weren't much help. Then I asked Americans. They said it was all right — I was being complimentary. I was not a 'weeping girl'."

Cubs and Braves lead Angels just starting

Little Britain Cubs last night defeated Port Perry 14-5 to take a 1 game lead in their best of seven semi-final set. The second game is slated to be played at Port Perry Saturday evening with the third at Little Britain Tuesday.

The Victoria Independent League "B" series semi-finals Sonya Braves led Canington three games to one. The fifth game of that set has been scheduled for Sunday afternoon at the Sonya park.

Bob Taylor tossed the win for the Cubs last night holding the visitors to three hits. Four of their runs came in the second inning without a hit. Then Taylor regained his control. This will probably be Bob's last appearance for a week or ten days as he reports at the St. Catharines hockey camp Sunday.

Little Britain Angels (Angels) are slated to meet Watkinson in the first round of the O.A. Junior play-downs. The best of three set starts up Hamilton last Sunday. Return game Saturday Sept. 5th.

Likely Cup contenders each have four straight wins

Constellation and Sovereign were victorious again in yesterday's yachting trials of New York, Rhode Island, Constellation beat American Eagle for the fourth straight time and is now favoured to be chosen to represent the United States in next month's America's Cup series against Great Britain. The likely British challenger will be Sovereign as she shipped Kurwara the Fifth for the fourth time in a row yesterday.

Yankee sale may fail other league owners disapprove

The Columbia Broadcasting-CBC Chairman William Paley sent a letter to Yankee President Dan Topping saying that CBS will abide by any outcome of the meeting next month. Said Paley: "If the league wishes to disavow the transaction, and is opposed to our admission as a member, the sooner we know it, the better. For we would never wish to enter baseball or any other field under such circumstances."

One of the two owners who originally opposed the sale Arthur Alyn of the Chicago White Sox said the special meeting called by Cronin will give the league a chance to clarify and clear up adverse criticism in the CBS purchase of the Yankees.
